													Customer, We are writing to remind you that on November 20, 2019, the PlaceResult.opening_hours.open_now and PlaceResult.utc_offset properties in the Places Library, Maps JavaScript API have been deprecated and replaced by new properties and methods. You are receiving this email because your projects may be reading these properties from PlaceResult objects returned in response to Place Details, Find Place, Nearby Search and Text Search requests. We previously communicated that the Places

													y critical zero-day vulnerability has been patched in the premium plugin - The Plus Addons for Elementor on March 10, 2021. The Plus Addons for Elementor facilitates users to add a user login or registration form on their Elementor pages. The flaw allowed hackers to add user accounts with administrative privileges. The vulnerability has been fixed in the latest version of the plugin - v4.1.7. Urgent update required. https://mail.clysend.com/v1/public/link/HR0cHM6Ly93d3cuZ2V0YXN0cmE1Y29tLTJ

The lead gen form on members pages should only show the services offered by that member. For example, Posidens Marina (http://www.alldock.edup.net/pro/20210412160518) only offers the services of Electronics and Shrink Wrapper (see screenshot1), so these should be the only services shown in the service option field referred to in screenshot2. These boat options such as Make and Length already correctly appear in fields lower down in the form (see screenshot4) and they shouldn't appear in the service categories field as well because this field is only service options offered by the service provider. Please let me know if this is clear. If not, let me know and I can get on a call to explain further. Many thanks, Phil

Here's the screen capture: https://drive.google.com/file/d/1ATh4Gdf7qL50teuoZSAJlaKbbQPmZDS/view?usp=sharing As you'll see in the screenshot, the pages load instantly for the first two members I log into who are unverified listings and for the fourth member I log into who is a boater, and the user experience is great. 													member I log in to and the fifth member I log into which are service provider members hip (In House Membership and Standard Membership), the loading is very slow, between 12 and 26 seconds, averaging around 15 seconds load time per page, which makes the website unusable for these members . The difference between the service provider members hips and the others is that the service provider members hips have to fill in the subcategories of boat types that they service. The non-service providers have ormation filled into their profiles as you'll see in the screen capture but the loading time is still fine, so I believe that it must be the service providers ' boat subcategory data that is causing the issue. Therefore, what I suspect is happening is that all of the user data including the service providers ' boat subcategory data is being reloaded in the background on every page, even if the data is not being used by a page.If this is the case then most of the page loading issues can be fixed by simply not all of the users data on every page. For most pages this should be a fine solution because most pages don't use this data. However this still won't fix the issue on the Listing Details page, since this page does need to load all of the service providers ' boat subcategory data to display it to the member. In this case I think that the only solution is to find a faster way to load the data. Maybe this data can be cached locally and a hash of the the cached data can be compared with a hash of the asked users for this and they gave us the information with no problem. Consumers seem less interested now that we are asking them to create an account, provide a password and phone number. You suggested removing the agent email and phone number, then consumers will submit more information when they choose to message an agent. We do not think this is the best course. Let's agree to simply update the form, removing the password and phone number requirement. Consumers want access without feeling as if they need to create an account. Most view this as a one-time interaction and as long as we are able to collect data to our CRM, we are happy. Also, if you view the screenshot, this gives the appearance that it's a multi-step process, which may also cause some consumers to be unhappy. It appears as though it's a 2 step signup process. The button says "signup and continue." Perhaps it should just say, "View Agent Directory" instead.

													the unclaimed accounts have selected services to offer, so none of them should have been matched to the lead. Also, since these are unclaimed accounts, they shouldn't be getting matched to leads anyway, so I'm not sure why this happened. Do you know why unclaimed accounts that have no services listed were automatically matched to a lead? Many thanks, Phil esearchers in a bad position, not getting paid or even recognized for their work. During conjoint analysis for our security solutions, we discovered that our customers were preferably focusing on the business aspects of the solution rather than the technical aspects of handling a bug bounty program. We realized that our customers required months to fix the found vulnerabilities, which meant a ton of duplicates were reported over this time which we ended up dealing with and explaining to security r

Considering, a lot of the customers were SMEs, we understood it wasn't possible for them to give a timeline for fixing the vulnerabilities. Possibly an audience mismatch from our side. The Community Security feature had a very low adoption from our user base and even lower usage. Almost 8% of our user base actually was using the product and under 2% were actively maintaining the program or replying to our emails. A number of times due to the

The directory filters work perfectly. Why it stopped working was we went ahead and fixed those members showing everywhere and then our search filters started showing which was supposed to be done by past developers or mistakenly by your team. For the YAER directory, if you remember there are a few Australians who are showing in Italy search too. This is because the show in all places in several members has been marked as Yes, and that has created some unnecessary database entries which should not. That means those members will be everywhere irrespective of filter. The directory filters work perfectly. Why it stopped working was we went ahead and fixed those members showing everywhere and then our search filters started showing which was supposed to be done by past developers or mistakenly by your team. If we revert the last fix (which was done to stop showing Australian members in Italy search and so on, which was actually done on a few hundreds of members)--> The filters works fine. For that reason once we gone ahead and tried

If not, let us know what is not working (on a zoom meeting) which will be scheduled just to talk about this. We will need to make sure that YAIR search filters (i.e Yoga Directory) work fine, and then only a similar concept has to be adapted to YAER's directory search filters. The support system that we have in place is actually working partially on trust between us and the client and the rest for maintenance clients. This is how it works: 1. For any fixed-projects we do, we trust clients that they are creating tickets only in regards to past work within their 3 months free warranty period since we maintain our past works for 3months for free.(In some cases even for 6months to 12 months based on project contracts.) 2. And Maintenance clients who create support tickets since they pay a fixed monthly or yearly fee; based on what we signed up for. So, we have a rule that if there is a support ticket - the team has to only ask me or any other managers only they don't understand what is written in the ticket. If they understand, they should avoid informing us. Or else it will slow down our process and work flow. So, in the support ticket section, the majority of times tickets are solved even before I saw them. The team there doesn't wait for me to read and then to tell them whether to do it or not. So far, out of a few thousand tickets created by a few hundred clients in the last few years - only a few hundred I would have seen them yet

It was due to the fact someone in the past did put all locations in several members so they were showing everywhere irrespective of what location you put in. To solve this, there > were other places that also got a little impact. We have solved it in YAIR and it took about 12-14 men-hours already by now.

													that, we don't know whether if there are any other moving parts impacted unless you don't observe and inform us. This may be all it, means all fixed, or maybe it can take more time if some other issue gets reported by you. To solve in YAER, we will need similar efforts. Similar time. I request a budget of $450 to solve this in YAER (YAIR in principle is solved already, if any other issue in YAIR search results if comes, it will also be included without a dditional costs, as considered included post feed works ok based on an “interests” field which links to glossary terms, however You will notice in an individual’s profile at the moment they can choose both “interests” in a single box, or then go to “about” and choose glossary terms. We don’t need both. I would prefer we put this section under “about” and use the multiple check box layout, just change the wording from associating with glossary terms to “select x topics of interest”. 													mobile layout? I notice my website looks awful on mobile but brilliant on computer. I have another website (https://motiv8forums.com) where on mobile it just zooms out, rather than trying to optimise for mobile - and I prefer this. Whereas if you look at this page (https://www.motiv8search.com/vforum/lotus-forum-12052022) on mobile - it looks awful, text is too big, layout is wrong, etc. Is there a way you can help me find out how to disable mobile view on https://motiv8search.com -

													what do they do? Loan Signing Agent (LSA), also commonly known as Notary Signing Agent (NSA) or Signing Agent Buying a home is an exciting time, but it's important to remember that there's still a lot of paperwork to be done before the deal is officially closed. There are a lot of different professionals who need to come together to make it happen. You have the real estate agent, the mortgage broker, the title company.. . and then there's the Loan Signing Agent. Mortgage companies typically work with a few Loan Signing Agents in each area. But what does this person do, and what role do they play in the home buying process? To begin, a LSA is trained to handle and notarize loan documents - making them an essential part of the loan process. Loan signing agents work for lenders as independent contractors so they can be completely impartial. These agents are responsible for conducting the signings and handling all the paperwork involved. More specifically, they verify the identity of the person signing ensure they are completely aware of what they are signing and make sure all documents are signed and initialed. Then, they notarize the documents so the state will accept them for proper recording . Loan Signing Agents are also responsible for mailing the completed documents for official recording. This process is important because it helps to ensure that all documents are properly signed and notarized before they are recorded. Recording documents helps to create a legal record of the event

													Additional Forms for now, or until I get more feedback. I added a drop down box instead which I think will work just fine for now for supplier's to indicate the budgets they support. I need to add one more header section for "Product & Services" to the Overview page. This would come directly after "Reservations" and above "Budget" (where the double line is below - I am not sure why there is a double line). I have already added the Questions to the additional details form. Marnie ethnicity not listed here ADDITIONAL AGENT QUESTION I feel we need to add a question for agents in regards to what type of loans their clients use. Certain loans can be harder to deal with (FHA or USDA) so they should be able to search for that. The question should be: What type of loan do you have the most experience with? 													We currently have a filter for consumers to search for agents that have helped a client buy or sell in a specific area. This is different from the filter we originally talked about today (which I need to by the add on for). This other filter is looking at where the agent actually had activity (not just the areas that they serve). However, that information comes from a report that the agent would need to submit (in excel > or pdf). On my end, I would need to pull that report information and list the individual properties they submitted. I would like to be able to show this on a map, but can just list the addresses for now. I would have the full address (city and zip) so that it can be pulled into the filter. I am guessing the best way is for give the service provider a section on the back end that they can upload their report. I can be alerted when they add a report and manually put the information into the system. />

													r>But, the operations aspect of our business becomes a bottleneck. We faced challenges with who to hire, who to fire, and what kind of people to place in which department and responsibility. Initially, we did not have many people who were providing open and transparent feedback. Smart engineers were all around and the market was providing them with 5X the compensation and benefits. Naturally, they expect a profit, which that in turn puts startups in a difficult position. Developers with average talent did not have flight risk but always

If I was looking to buy a little bit North of the city in Wexford (which would still show up as Pittsburgh), this guy wouldn't be helpful as he isn't used to that area nor have any connections to people living there. Suggestion: I suggest we only have real estate agents match a consumer's city/zip search if it is where they have bought or sold a home (basically ignoring general coverage areas for agents).
